Music: Some of the music used during the festival will be available for purchase after the workshop.

Even though our festival is designed to help the new, or struggling handbell choir, we offer classes that appeal to established ringers as well. This is necessary to have a successful festival. At one time, all of us were beginning ringers. We became what we are today because of the help of the established ringers when we started ringing. Now it is our turn to pay-it-forward to the next generation of ringers.
